- Photograph is a form of art that helps people or its viewers create a connection to it. Like graffiti they are also some kind of a non-verbal talk because while see a photo the viewer understands what the photographer wants to speak about it.
- There was two assignment in this unit each undertaking which help me find new photographer and also help me to decode in an easy way.

Photography takes an instant out of time, altering life by holding it still.

—Dorothea Lange

Task 1

The one you see here is Mr Antonio ARAGÓN RENUNCIO (I am extremely sorry if I miss pronounced it), he was born in Spain in the year 1971. Since the mid-90s he has always been related to the photographic medium: he founded and presides over the Nostromo de Santander Photographers Association.

He was also the Professor of Photography for more than 15 years. In 2003, he founded, and since then has presided, the NGO OASIS with which he continuously develops medical projects in some of the most depressed areas of the Gulf of Guinea in Africa. Most works of the artworks are toward the trouble that we cause to the environment and child rights. He has exhibited more than two hundred and fifty exhibitions in total. Tireless traveller, he exercises freelance photojournalism in recent years he has covered stories in more than 30 countries. One of his recent awards is the Mazarat International Photo Festival where he was the Winner this even took place in the year 2021. Some of the well-known work includes working with UNESCO and UNICEF.

Task 1

The image you are seeing here is clicked by Mr Antonio. The title of this is The Plastic Quarry. The image is in a monochromatic form. Humans see the world in colour, and a rendition of the world in monochrome makes us pause and look closely removing colour from a picture helps the viewer to focus on a subject's emotional state monochromatic portraiture lets the audience see the subject's face and read his eyes without distraction. The image shows a boy who plays with a plastic bag. About 380 million tons of plastic are produced worldwide each year. Production increased exponentially from 2.3 million tons in 1950 to 448 million tons by 2015. Every day, approximately eight million pieces of plastic pollution find their way into our oceans. The global market value of the plastics industries is forecast to grow from 523 billion U.S. dollars in 2018 to more than 750 billion U.S. dollars in 2027.

Task 1

The one you see here is Mr John Wilhelm, he was born in Switzerland. He was an IT Engineer by profession and had passion in photography. His father was an experienced photographer and founded at least two local photography- associations. He grew up in an environment of cameras, magazines, lenses but he was not so excited about those films back then. His initial stage of his journey started when he got his first digital camera in his hands. After years of clicking photos, he in the month of February 2011 decided to take a step across the border of plain photography and entered the world of Photoshop. He love bringing my fantasy to life with the help of his own images, Photoshop and 3D Software. Since it's more like an obsession than plain passion hence, he calls himself a photoholic because of which I connected it the global issue of Art, creativity and the imagination.

Task 1

The image you see here is a multi-coloured image which can be used to lead the viewer's eyes and draw attention to certain parts of the photo or it can express and influence the viewer's mood. When I saw this image for the first time made me realize how lucky I am living in a country in peace. Armed conflict destroys the basic necessities of life like schools, health care, adequate shelter, water and food. That makes it difficult for communities to give children an environment that fosters healthy and social development. Furthermore because of such conflict not only the children are affected but also there is a loss of natural resource and also lot of damage is caused to the environment. I connected this art to Persepolis, as we all know Marjane the author of the book also grew in such an environment when there were riots, war, army conflicts, bombing and because of which schools were closed and necessary education was not available, also schools were pseudo promising their boys student that if they become soldiers for the war and were lucky enough to die the key that they got would get them into heaven. The image shows Delightful and frightening at the same time, but true, sometimes it's just one step and life changes. War divides family and also the same took place with Marjane went she left her parents and emigrated to Austria.

Task 2

Atomic habits

The time is ticking, change your habits. The summary of the book talks about how bad habits repeat themselves not because you don't want to change but because you have the wrong system for change.

Dark time passes by

This picture is clicked my me and while clicking it the thought that ran across my mind was that no situation in life is lasts forever, and every good or bad phase in life will certainly change with time.

Paint the sky and make it your own

We think that they are trying to portray a canvas according to their personality. The sky represents endlessness which shows that the possibilities are also endless.

The world we live in.

Nothing is ever pure and clean. Likewise, the world is not always calm and there maybe destruction or issues around us which we may not be aware of.

Task 2

Can poverty ever be fully eradicated?

This is something we see on a regular basis so we think that the impact of the picture is quite high. Not only in this country but around the world, poverty plays a very big role and this photograph is trying to give us an overview of it.

Dark time passes by

This picture indicates that no situation in life is lasts forever, and every good or bad phase in life will certainly change with time.

Paint the sky and make it your own

Everyone goes through rough times when they think that they may not be worthy, this picture encourages us and makes us believe that we aren't alone. There will always be someone for us, if not now, then eventually.

The world we live in.

This shows the world serves as a mirror may it be good or bad. If you don't like what you see, you should try to change it or make it better as its your own doing.

Task 2

Stand out

It tells us to be unique and different from others and follow our own path.

Those were the days

The photograph shows a child with a book. We think that the level of curiosity in one's childhood drew them to read and study more however today, it's no longer the same.

Conclusion

Photographs are something that create a lot of impact in your life. They make us stop that time in a piece of paper and see it years after. There are some images that speak out a lot of things. These can be because of their colour scheme, their location, the object it contains and many more things.
